

Welcome to www.kristinheimark.co.uk, a website published by Miss Kristin Heimark of Stoke Newington Chambers.

These are the terms and conditions that govern your use of this site.

You will be deemed to have agreed to be bound by these terms and conditions when you use, access, or browse the site, register your details with us, schedule a call, submit a fixed quote enquiry, email, or letter, or subscribe for email or online services.

This site is made available for information purposes only. This site does not contain legal advice.

There's no guarantee that information on the site is accurate, complete, or up to date. Users of this site who rely on any information provided on it do so at their own risk. Availability of information is subject to change without notice.

Links to external sites are for information purposes only. No responsibility can be accepted for the content of external sites.

Because the publisher and individual authors do not give legal advice on this site and because no site is 100% secure, you must not upload or send confidential information to us.

If you are interested in instructing barrister Kristin Heimark, you may make general enquiries about the suitability of your case under the Direct Public Access scheme and her availability via the "Schedule a call" button on this site.

Nothing on this site should be construed as legal advice or perceived as creating a barrister-client relationship.

You must not email or otherwise send casefiles, records, contracts, tenancy agreements, police statements, correspondence or any other case-related mail/packages or information without first obtaining written permission from Miss Heimark.

No unannounced “drop-in” appointments are available at chambers – and all non-client contact must come via the “Schedule a call” facility.

For the avoidance of doubt, you are not Miss Heimark’s client unless and until there is a written agreement for services that has been signed by you both and the agreed fee has been paid.

Liability cannot be accepted for any loss, damage or inconvenience arising as a consequence of any use of or the inability to use any information on this site. This includes any downloads or emails which are generated from this site.

This site uses cookies. You have the ability to accept or decline cookies using your web browser. Cookies can be removed or declined by changing your web browser settings. For more information you may visit www.allaboutcookies.org.

Stoke Newington Chambers and its logos are registered trademarks.

This site and all the content contained herein is protected by copyright and other intellectual property rights. You must not commercialise, frame, or otherwise copy material from this website without Miss Heimark’s prior written permission. All rights reserved. These rights include, but are not limited to, pursuing any breach of by way of Criminal and/or Civil proceedings.

These terms and conditions will be construed in accordance with English law and the English courts shall have jurisdiction in any legal proceedings (without regard to conflict of laws principles). Any proceedings which may arise out of or in connection with this site shall be brought solely in a court in London, England.